

Thanks-Living

Message Magazine's Online Devotional for Thursday, November 27, 2014

Based Upon Matthew 26

Everyday we awaken to experience life again, we are faced with important decisions. Among them is whether we will live thanks to the Lord for His goodness or betray Him. Will our lives be a fragrant offering of our gratefulness, or will we loathe being associated with Him when things get difficult?

Everyday we awaken to experience life again, God is faced with important decisions. Among them is whether He will continue to give us sunshine and rain, even though we don't deserve it. Will He continue to invest all His energies in saving those who often seem resistant to His love, or will He just accept that some will never love Him in return?

Let today be a special time for giving thanks. Let your meditations be on the blessing it is that Jesus gave His all to make certain you can have everlasting life. Then, in His honor, look for ways to be a blessing to someone else. Happy Thanks-Living.
